Q. SIN Army has been making rounds recently in the Asia circuit, can you tell us more about this team. What does SIN Army represents?

A. SIN Army is a Paintballers World Pro Shop (www.paintballersworld.com) community initiative to gather like-minded paintball sport enthusiasts from Singapore to compete together regardless of their respective teams. SIN Army in short for Singapore Army follows the concept of forming project makeshift team to compete in paintball tournaments. Following the French Legionnaires where individuals from different nationalities are called upon to fight for France, the SIN Army is a representation to oppose the odds of not being able to compete with their own teams. Our aim for SIN Army is to gather players to represent Singapore in events across all Divisions.

Q. So does it mean that if I am from US and I can represent SIN Army?

A. Yes, SIN Army welcomes players from across the world and all nationalities. So far, we have players representing SIN Army from Indonesia, Malaysia, USA, UK, Australia.

Q. What's the catch? Surely there must be a deal to this?

A. There is no catch actually. As per all sponsored paintball teams, players representing SIN Army will be required to agree to terms of representation for the events. Terms are as simple as helping to promote the team via social media platform before, during and after the event. We will also require the team to come together to practice once before the event.

Q. The team managed to clinch a continuous podium finish in Division 2 of Thailand Paintball Official Circuit and Malaysia Paintball Official Circuit recently. What does it mean for the team? Will we see this as a trend?

A. For TPOC and MPOC, we managed to recruit experienced players into the team. Results will vary according to the experience of the roster. Certainly, we hope to get as many podium finish as possible but coming together to participate events as a project team, all players are happy just to be shooting paintballs!

Q. This is a totally new concept and we have never heard of this at all. What are the determining factors in forming this team?

A. The SIN Army concept is new and not seen anywhere else, the team has participated in 3 events into 2016 and counting. As long as there are players which can be recruited, there will be SIN Army.

Q. If you can name a star player of the team who will it be?

A. We do not have an official team so you can say that the team is as strong as the players recruited for that specific event. Everyone is star in the team.

Q. We noticed that since formation, the team members are wearing jerseys of their respective teams. Will the SIN Army eventually have their own jersey?

A. Yes, we will have a team jersey. The team is sponsored by TANKED so we will be donning TANKED jersey. Players playing for SIN Army can have their own customized jersey made if they wish too. Since the team will always be around, it would make sense to purchase a jersey and wear to represent whenever available to play. Jerseys will be provided for the players when they represent the team and only to be returned and WASHED after each event.

Q. What can we expect from SIN Army in 2016?

A. Since this is the first year that SIN Army is in existence, we are taking it easy and participating in events as we moved along. We should be expecting the team to participate in most major events across Asia. 10 – 15 event in a year is our estimated figure.

Q. Any last words to participants of the SPS?

A. SIN Army will always be the underdog in all events.
